WOMAN SHOOK BABY TO DEATH

Four-year jail sentence for 34-year-old

By Russ Lawrence
russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

A CHILDMINDER who shook a 10-month old baby to death has been jailed for four years

Viktoria Tautz, 34, had been looking after Joshua Paul, at his home in Culross Close, Tottenham. She was found guilty of his manslaughter at the Old Bailey last Thursday.

The court heard that Joshua had been entrusted to her care by his parents, who employed her on weekdays while they both went to work.

She had been caring for Joshua for two months when on the morning of August 24, 2014, a neighbour heard screams and discovered Tautz with the unconscious child.

The emergency services arrived at 9.01am to find the baby unresponsive and in need of urgent medical attention.

Tautz, of Holly Park Road, Friern Barnet, informed the paramedics that Joshua had become severely unwell and as a result had sought urgent medical attention for him.

She stated that she noticed Joshua's face was going puffy and thought that he may be choking.

The baby was taken to North Middlesex University Hospital, in Edmonton, and immediately transferred to Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital, where life support was withdrawn a week later .

A post-mortem examination at Great Ormond Street gave the cause of death as a head injury.

Tautz, who was not a registered childminder, was arrested on suspicion of manslaughter on September 5, 2014 and charged 12 weeks later.

Robert Davis, reviewing lawyer for the Crown Prosecution Service, said: "This was an upsetting case involving a child's death.

"Joshua Paul was killed by his childminder, who had been entrusted with his care.

"Despite her defence that she did not shake the child, the expert medical reports demonstrated that the injuries could only have been caused by an assault The only person who could have assaulted Joshua Paul was Ms Tautz."

Detective Inspector Ian Lott, from the Met Police's Homicide and Major Crime Command, described it as an "extremely tragic case."

Behind bars: Viktoria Tautz

"The jury recognised that Tautz had a part to play in Joshua's death, and we welcome the guilty verdict," he said.

Festival offers a musical interlude

VOTERS will be able to nip next door from one polling station where they have cast their ballot tomorrow (Thursday) to enjoy a free live music event as a curtain raiser to Stroud Green's annual Festival of Music.

The start of the three-week-long festival, which runs from June 8 to 25, coincides with general election day.

Concerts and recitals are being held throughout the day at Holy Trinity Church, in Granville Road, while the adjoining church hall, in Stapleton Hall Road, is being used as a polling station.

Entertainment will be provided by Alexandra Palace's organ scholar Marion Bettsworth, who will be playing on the hour, along with lively World War I songs from mezzo-soprano Patricia Hammond and singing and lute playing from the Dowland Works collective.

The event finishes at 10pm when the polls close with the Crouch End Singers performing Mozart's Ave Verum.

The festival features a variety of classical, folk, jazz and world music concerts and recitals held at four venues – Holy Trinity Church, the church hall, Hornsey Vale Community Centre, in Mayfield Road, and Hornsey Town Hall, in The Broadway, Crouch End.

Some events are free or pay what you can while others are ticketed. For further information, visit www.stroudgreenfestival.org.uk

● Many Haringey pupils will get an extra day's holiday tomorrow while their schools double up as polling stations for the election.

Rival candidates will have to overturn Labour's huge 23,564-vote majority to snatch victory in the Tottenham parliamentary constituency and Labour would have to let slip a 11,858 majority in the Hornsey and Wood Green seat for one of seven rivals to stand any chance of winning.

Work gets under way on restoration of Victorian theatre

KEITH ARMSTRONG

Splendid stuff: The theatre at Alexandra Palace is being restored to its former glory

THE grand splendour of Alexandra Palace's Victorian Theatre is being recreated as part of a multi-million-pound restoration – but without the steep sloping floor which was a feature of the original.

The magnificent and historic theatre has stood unused and in disrepair for more than 80 years and is being restored to its former glory as part of a £26million refurbishment of Ally Pally's East Wing.

The inclined auditorium floor is being levelled and strengthened so when it re-opens next summer it can stage small or large-scale events and performances for audiences of up to 1,300 people – less than half the theatre's original 3,000-seat capacity when it was opened in 1875.

The removal of the 145-year-old floorboards has already taken place to enable reinforced steel, concrete blocks and decking to support the flattened auditorium floor on which they will be relaid.

The completion of the floor infill has also taken place with the pouring of liquid concrete.

Excavations have unearthed a treasure trove of buried and concealed artefacts shedding fresh light on the theatre's history.

It includes plaster work from a collapsed second balcony, long rumoured to exist but never documented in photos or records, together with tetanus vials used for German and Austrian and Hungarian civilians who were held there when Ally Pally doubled as an internment camp in World War I, as well as set designs and storyboards from the 1930s when BBC studios were based there.

Matt Somerville, associate at architects Feilden Clegg Bradley Studios, said: "The reason the theatre has survived is largely because it was disused.

"Nowhere in the West End is there such a complete example of Victorian theatre stage engineering.

"During and after the decades of peripheral use by the BBC, decorative plaster was knocked off by sets and equipment lent against walls, the roof leaked and water brought down parts of the ceiling and plaster fell off the walls, but this is all integral to the story of the place and to its authenticity. We are seeking to hold it in a state of 'arrested decay'."

Mum hurt in park knife attack

By Clare Casey
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

THIS horrifying picture, right, inset, was taken just moments after a woman out in the park with her young daughter had her throat slashed in what appears to have been a random attack.

She was grabbed at 3pm on Saturday in Broomfield Park, Palmers Green, by a man with a beard, who cut her throat with a knife.

The park was packed with young families enjoying the sunshine and police are appealing for eyewitnesses to help them find the callous knifeman, who ran away following the brutal attack.

Peter Gibbs, chairman of the consortium of the Friends of Enfield Parks, said he was "very concerned".

"The friends of all the parks in Enfield have become increasingly concerned about the security threat in the borough's parks," said Mr Gibbs.

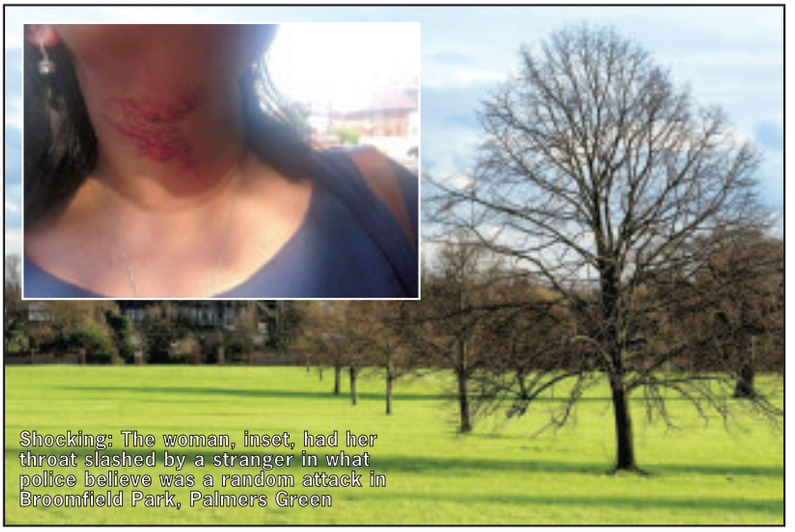

"We don't have park police anymore – and anti-social and criminal behaviour have a habit of whirling up in an area and spreading.

"Obviously, a physical attack, like this one, is rare, but very worrying."

A police spokeswoman said: "On Saturday, June 3, at about 3pm, a woman was attacked and suffered a cut to her neck in Broomfield Park by a lone black man, with a beard.

"He is aged 25 to 35 and is 5ft 7ins tall.

"If you have any information about this incident, please call Enfield CID on 020 8345 3349."

Van collision leaves motorcyclist fighting for his life

A MOTORCYCLIST is fighting for his life after he was involved in a collision with a van on Sunday.

The horrific collision is the latest in a string of road traffic accidents on the borough's roads.

It happened at the junction of Great Cambridge Road and Carterhatch Lane, Enfield, just after 9pm.

A police spokesman said: "The motorcyclist – a man aged in his early 20s – has been taken to hospital, where he remains in a critical condition.

"The driver involved in the incident stopped at the scene and is assisting police with their inquiries.

"No arrests have been made."

Last weekend's accident is not far from the scene of two fatalities that happened on the roads over the May bank holiday weekend.

A motorcyclist was fatally injured on the A10 Great Cambridge Road in Edmonton at 2pm on Saturday, May 27.

Two days later, a 53-year-old man died after colliding with a car on Monday, May 29.

The pedestrian had been crossing Hertford Road at the junction with Nightingale Road, Edmonton, at 9.25pm. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

The 23-year-old driver of the car was arrested on suspicion of causing death by dangerous driving and driving under the influence of drugs.

Detectives from the Metropolitan Police's Roads and Transport Policing Command are investigating and have appealed for witnesses.

Anyone who witnessed either incident should contact the Collision Investigation Unit at Chadwell Heath on 020 8597 4874 or via Twitter @MetCC

'Trip of a lifetime': Scout Louise Azavedo is attending the Scout Moot in Iceland

Prepared – for an Iceland trip

SCOUT Louise Azavedo, from Edmonton, will be attending the World Scout Moot in Iceland.

The event is a gathering for 18 to 25-year-olds from across the globe and Louise is "incredibly excited" to be going.

The Scouts will go glacier walking and hiking and live in tribes of up to 40 Scouts as they learn about different cultures and customs.

As every good Scout should be, Louise, 25, of St Peter's Road, will "be prepared".

She's been a Scout throughout her life – she was taken along to events in her pram – and both her parents were Scout leaders, as she is.

Louise works as a special educational teaching assistant at Barnet and Southgate College, working with a group of students with special needs.

She said: "It will be a really special trip – a real trip of a lifetime. I'm most looking forward to making new friends and, of course going, to Iceland – it looks an amazing place.

"Scouting is in my blood, it's wonderful for young people to do. It builds confidence and leadership and I hope that the Cub Scouts I lead will be inspired to take part in trips like this when they're older."

A 500-strong contingent from the UK will be joining a total of 5,000 participants from 80 countries at the event, embarking on nine days of adventure, fun and discovery from July 25 to August 2.

North Mid doc scoops award

By Clare Casey
newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

A DOCTOR who goes above and beyond her role caring for children – and training her colleagues to do the same – has scooped a national award.

Paediatrician Victoria Jones, who works at North Middlesex University Hospital, in Sterling Way, Edmonton, won the best educational supervisor category at the annual Paediatric Awards for Training Achievements from the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health.

The awards are hotly contested and nominations come from across the country.

Dr Philippa Prentice, who nominated Dr Jones for the award, said: "The whole team at North Middlesex University Hospital put Vicky forward for this because she's such a fantastic supervisor, mentor and paediatrician. She shows a real empathy for her trainees and, particularly after difficult clinical cases, she is there to provide personal advice and support."

North Mid's paediatric department treats about 50,000 children a year.

Dr Jones said: "I feel so honoured to receive this award from the RCPCH. I really put this down to the fantastic example set by all of my colleagues who prioritise the education and welfare of all of our trainees.

"I'm also grateful to the support of the school of paediatrics."

Members of the panel said they were "most impressed by what they heard and observed".

They're a Force to be reckoned with

Suits you, sir: Chris Wood with amateur photographers – plus a friendly stormtrooper

THE force is strong with these amateur photographers looking to pep up their pictures.

At a special session at Trent Park, they got expert tips on how to improve – straight from one of Yoda's disciples.

Chris Wood worked as photographer for The Empire Strikes Back when it was filmed at Elstree Studios in 1980, taking pictures of the Star Wars guru Yoda and intergalactic warrior and Han Solo's pal Chewbacca.

The experience was obviously inspirational.

His Yoda-like urge to pass on his expertise was well to the fore as he helped fight off the dark side when a dastardly stormtrooper surprised the snappers as they toured the park gardens.

En route, Chris was able to pass on memories of a career in which he has captured most members of the Royal Family, David Bowie, Arnold Schwarzenegger and Michael Jackson on film.

A full programme of tours this year around the park can be downloaded from the Trent Park website.

Heavy on the horsepower

HUNDREDS of visitors were taken back in time when they were given some rare insights into how life was lived in the rural past.

The heavy mob were in town and their presence lit up Capel Manor Gardens, in Bullsmoor Lane, Enfield, on Sunday.

The gardens' 30 acres of grounds were the perfect setting to showcase Britain's agricultural heritage as glorious giants of the equine world competed in several classes at the Hertfordshire Heavy Horses Association's annual event.

All the horses were displayed in their finery and visitors came from far and wide to see them in action.

They were able to enjoy dray rides and a farrier was on hand offering tips.

Other attractions included an obstacle course competition and a dog agility display as well as stalls for visitors to browse.

Exhibitor Stephen Hagger, who took his horse Pelham Peggy May to the event, said: "It was very successful – people came from Norfolk, Cambridgeshire, Hertfordshire and Sussex."

Master of ceremonies: Simon Boness, above, from the Hertfordshire Heavy Horse Association, gives spectators the lowdown on the displays; right, visitors were able to take time out for a picnic

Big guns Khan and Hammond enter the fray in 'marginal' Enfield North

By Priya Kingsley-Adam
priya.kingsley-adam@nlhnews.co.uk

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

Campaigning in the Enfield North constituency last week: Joan Ryan and Sadiq Khan and Nick de Bois and Philip Hammond

CHANCELLOR of the Exchequer Philip Hammond and Mayor of London Sadiq Khan joined the stream of political heavyweights who have been wheeled out in the run-up to the general election in a bid to sway voters in the marginal seat of Enfield North.

Mr Hammond visited North Enfield Conservative Club, in Baker Street last Thursday, within an hour of Mr Khan joining Labour canvassers in Carterhatch Lane.

Labour won Enfield North two years ago with a slender 1,086 majority and it is one of the Conservatives' target seats.

Mr Hammond was giving his support to Nick de Bois and Mr Khan was backing Joan Ryan's bid to retain the seat she won from Mr de Bois in 2015, having previously been the Enfield North MP from 1997 to 2010.

Following a protest march over education funding in the borough, Mr Hammond responded to claims that the Tories' manifesto would mean a seven per cent reduction in funding for each Enfield pupil.

He insisted that £4billion of education funding would be provided each year.

"That's an additional £1bn over what our plan was, so we've put extra money in," he said.

He added that the Tories had made a "commitment that no school would lose out in cash terms from the change to the funding formula".

He said that schools which had been underfunded previously would see an "uplift" and those that were sufficiently funded wouldn't see a reduction.

"Of course, we expect schools to deliver efficiencies like every part of the public sector," he said.

"We're still dealing with a very large deficit and there are ways of driving efficiency of services including education, but this will be in the context of significantly enveloping funding."

Mr Hammond said that if re-elected the Tories would be committed to increasing health funding by £8bn a year by the end of the next parliament.

He said Brexit negotiations would be "tough" and "complex", but businesses, including local traders, would be at the "forefront" of their thinking.

Meanwhile, responding to the issues surrounding the spree of stabbings in the borough and a call for more police on the streets, Mr Khan insisted that an additional 10,000 officers would be deployed across the country if Labour were elected.

"By reversing the capital gains tax it will pay for 10,000 officers and will mean us not having to close down police stations or lose police officers," he said, "but also having a proper knife crime strategy that deals with this issue."

However, since becoming mayor he said he had tried to restore neighbourhood policing to increase numbers of dedicated officers.

Mr Khan also highlighted the public's role in combating knife crime.

"We all have a role to play in stopping young people in thinking their cool or it makes them safer to carry a knife," he said.

"My message to a young person is it doesn't give you respect and if you carry a knife you will be stopped, searched, arrested and be prosecuted."

Responding to the shortage of affordable housing and the difficulties faced by young people to get on to the property ladder, Mr Khan said he would make sure a "significant number" were built.

"The good news is I have negotiated a good settlement from the government," he said, "but we also have a good council like Enfield working with us and making sure there are genuinely affordable homes being built.

Education is the key: Joan Ryan and Ross Kemp with residents Angela Bailey and Danielle Prior

Kemp voices worries over knife crime

By Priya Kingsley-Adam

priya.kingsley-adam@nlhnews.co.uk

ACTOR and Labour Party member Ross Kemp said there was "nothing glamorous" about knife crime during a visit to the borough last week to support Labour's Enfield North parliamentary candidate Joan Ryan and speak to anti-knife crime campaigners.

The former EastEnders star, who has interviewed some of the world's most notorious gang members for a series of TV documentary programmes, met campaigners at Hills Café, in Hertford Road, Enfield Highway, on Friday.

The 52-year-old told members from community Facebook group We Love Our Highway that while weapon stop and searches were effective, police officers needed to be "respectful" when carrying them out.

Mother-of-one Angela Bailey, who has organised two peace marches in Enfield, told Mr Kemp about the horrendous stabbing of an 18-year-old in Hertford Road, which she and her nine-year-old son witnessed.

"It made me feel physically sick," Ms Bailey, 40, told him, "and I had to explain to my son what had happened outside our house."

Mr Kemp, whose dad worked as a police officer for 30 years, said that more needed to be done to "stigmatise" knife crime.

"It's about nudging them into a position where they are scared of the repercussions of carrying a knife," he said.

He added that educating young people in schools was crucial to make them aware that there was no heroism attached to knife crime.

"A young man is most likely to listen to a former gang member who can tell him there's nothing glamorous about going to prison because of knife crime and not being able to see their girlfriend for years," he said.

Ms Ryan, who has been on both peace marches and has made tackling knife crime one of the key issues in her campaign, said: "It was important for the group to discuss their issues with him as they are very interested in bringing the community together and tackling the problem – and Ross's experience was very valid."

Ms Bailey, who lives in Hertford Road and works as a funeral director, said that the community needed to understand the increasing issue of knife crime.

"We can't do it on our own, we need help and for people to stand up," she said.

"It's really nice that he took an interest in the issue," she added, "and his visit will hopefully raise our profile and make more people aware of the dangers of knife crime."

On the spot: Nessa Parkinson tackles Boris Johnson about funding for the NHS

Boris receives a mixed reception

By Clare Casey

newsdesk@nlhnews.co.uk

FLANKED by security and poster-wielding supporters on the Tory campaign trail, Boris Johnson handed out leaflets and had countless selfies with shoppers in Enfield Town on Monday.

The Foreign Secretary visited the borough to rally support for Nick de Bois, who is battling to win back the Enfield North seat from Labour rival Joan Ryan.

It's a marginal seat which the Tories hope they can win to secure No 10 for Theresa May when voters have their say tomorrow.

Joined by an entourage of party members, the blonde-mopped Tory visited Upstairs, Downstairs hairstyling in Southbury Road – much to the dismay of a woman who was having her "colours done" – then Azure restaurant and G Mantella Jewellers.

Erdal Mehmet, the owner of the jewellers, said that he had a soft spot for Mr Johnson and tried to sell him an anti-ageing device that he is involved in promoting at the ExCeL centre, in Docklands, later this week.

"He's a good man, he came here after the riots in 2011 when the front of the shop was smashed in and all the watches stolen," said Mr Mehmet.

"It was money from the London mayor's fund that got us back on our feet."

Talking to Mr Mehmet, the former mayor of London said: "I could be interested, but I'm looking good already and I'm very strong, look at me!"

But it wasn't all smiles and selfies from the crowds.

Nessa Parkinson tackled Mr Johnson about the "£350million for the NHS" plastered across the side of a battlebus, and asked him where that money was coming from.

He answered that it was "for the government to decide". She retorted: "Yes, a government you're part of."

The Advertiser pressed the Foreign Secretary on the Conservatives' National Funding Formula for schools and quizzed him on whether he supported Cycle Enfield – a scheme to which fellow Tory David Burrowes, the candidate in Enfield Southgate, is opposed.

In response Mr Johnson said: "We're going to make sure we're going to fund school spaces across the country. It's vital to have a strong economy to do that.

"Yes, of course, the cycle lanes are good, but my colleague Mr de Bois probably knows more than me about the detail."

Old pals act for UKIP's Sussman

Walk this way: Nigel Sussman, right, with pal Paul Bohill, a regular on Channel 5's Can't Pay, We'll Take It Away TV programme

ELECTION hopeful Nigel Sussman had a High Court bailiff turn up as he canvassed votes at the weekend – in the shape of Paul Bohill, one of the stars of the popular Channel 5 fly-on-the wall TV documentary series Can't Pay, We'll Take It Away.

However, the silver-haired 72-year-old enforcement agent wasn't there to chase a debt or repossess his home, he was there to offer the UKIP candidate for Edmonton his support as a personal friend and not to declare political allegiance to any one party.

He made his appearance as Mr Sussman handled out leaflets at a stall in Edmonton Green on Saturday. The two men are good pals and worked with each other several years ago when Mr Sussman was the boss of a specialist firm enforcing and executing High Court writs and Mr Bohill was a former director.

The UKIP candidate no longer works in the industry, having run his own business procurement consultancy ever since.

"Paul was recognised by many shoppers and members of the public and he was happy to chat with them about the show and sign autographs," said Mr Sussman.

"The bailiff industry had a somewhat tarnished image and that's why when I set up my company. I wanted to show it didn't have to be like that and in the TV series Paul demonstrates that more caring, compassionate approach. The experience I've had has helped me understand there are many working-class people struggling and suffering hardship. I want to help and feel I can make a difference, which is why I'm standing."

Criticism is valid, but put the blame on right people

WHILE I agree with Jim Blake's comments in his letter ("At least have the decency to use the cycle lanes", Advertiser, May 24), I have to disagree with who he is blaming.

The blame lays completely in the laps of Daniel Anderson and all Labour councillors in Enfield. They bulldozed the cycle lanes through despite objections from residents and business owners.

I have disabled friends who drive but will no longer be able to use any of the local amenities because apparently Mr Anderson believes that disabled people don't drive, they are just passengers who get dropped off.

That's several banks, building societies, opticians, post offices, dry cleaners, bakeries, picture framing shops, hairdressers, cafes, restaurants, dentists, launderettes and charity shops that will lose business.

Also more miles will be driven by them to find somewhere else with disabled parking as well as anybody else wanting to use those businesses and trying to pick up or drop off items.

Sorry to see business go

SAD news that two well-established and respected businesses are set to close – Elms Trophies and Sports Equipment, in Southbury Road, Enfield Town, and The Falcon pub, in Ponders End.

Having been a paying and satisfied customer in both establishments, I would like to thank them both and wish them well in the future.

I am sure I speak for many in Enfield. All the best.

Walk to School Week's been a huge success, but don't stop now – there's a long way to go

LIVING Streets' Walk to School Week is over for another year and we'd like to thank everyone in the London borough of Enfield who contributed to making it a massive success.

Nearly 10,000 pupils from 330 classrooms in Enfield joined in with pupils across the UK to enjoy the many benefits of walking to school.

We know that schools become healthier and happier places when children walk to school.

The chief medical officer recommends that children are active for 60 minutes a day and walking to school is a free, accessible and easy way for children to contribute to this target.

Despite these benefits, the number of children walking to school is in decline with just 47 per cent of children making the journey on foot.

At Living Streets, we are committed to reversing this decline and are asking for town and city leaders to prioritise making school walking routes safer, to help to prevent problems associated with a lack of walking, including child obesity and air pollution.

Just because the week of celebration is over, it doesn't mean families have to stop walking. WOW is our year-round walk-to-school challenge, so they can continue to experience the benefits of walking to school all yea round. Just visit livingstreets.org.uk/wow to find out more.

Once again, a huge thank you and congratulations to everyone who took part in this year's Walk to School Week – with your help we'll get more children experiencing a healthy and happy walk to school.

I dedicate this to each and every one of you

I HAVE taken this photo at my local park – as I do every year – to show what good work our hard-working friends of parks do in Enfield's beautiful parks.

I am sure the friends will agree with me when I dedicate the photo of these roses to each and every member of the emergency services, including the doctors and nurses and everyone else who went over and above their call of duty to help others in need at London Bridge and Borough Market and in Manchester. Thank you all.

These photos are also dedicated to all the unsung heroes who have shown how the human race should and must behave and the bereaved families, and in memory of those who lost their lives as a result of acts of terrorism.

To all those recovering in hospital: get well soon, we love you.

Join the buzz: Bees our vital for pollinating our food

Do your bit to help our bees

OUR bees aren't just an iconic sign of a British summer, they are vital for pollinating much of the food we enjoy every day and the wildflowers that decorate our countryside.

But the UK's bees are under threat, with about 35 species considered to be at risk of extinction due to loss of habitats, pesticides and intensive farming.

This is why Friends of the Earth is running the Great British Bee Count, which runs until June 30.

By downloading a fun, free app, you can find out more about the bees that visit your gardens, parks and neighbourhoods and find out what you can do to help them – such as creating bee-friendly spaces. You can also send in sightings and photos of the bees you spot.

Join the buzz at www.greatbritishbeecount.co.uk or search for Great British Bee Count in your app store.

Who's the daddy?

WHETHER you think your dad needs to update his look or just needs to upgrade his prescription, the Palmers Green eyecare experts are helping you show your pop that he's The Greatest Man You Ever Knew by offering readers the chance to win one of three pairs of glasses – first prize with designer frames worth £149, second prize worth £125 and third prize worth £99, all complete with single vision lenses.

Don't let your Papa Preach as you head down to the Green Lanes store to make sure father's wearing his Sunday best as you choose from the growing collection, including the new Hugo BOSS, Hackett London, GANT and Jeff Banks.

To help your father figure have a spectacular Father's Day, simply finish the lyrics to this well-known Boney M song:

● She is crazy like a fool, What about it Daddy cool, I'm crazy like a fool, What about it Daddy Cool, Daddy Daddy Cool…

a) Momma's got a brand new bag, b) Sister's sighing in her sleep, c) Daddy Daddy Cool

The winners will be chosen following the closing date for entries on June 15 and can select their designer glasses from Specsavers in Palmers Green only.

Visit the Palmers Green store at 359 Green Lanes, Palmers Green, London, N13 4JG, call 020 8920 3150 or visit www.specsavers.co.uk/palmersgreen

Send answers, with your name, address and a daytime phone number, to: Father's Day Competition, North London & Essex News Ltd, 187 Baker Street, Enfield, EN1 3JT, or send your answer, with contact details, to competitions@nlhnews.co.uk, with "Father's Day" in the subject line, by noon on June 15.

Terms and conditions:

■ Three winners to each receive one pair of designer specs, with the first prize frame value of up to £149, the second prize frame value up to £125 and the third prize frame value up to £99.

■ The competition closing date is June 15.

■ Prizes must be claimed by June 30.

■ This prize is non-transferable, cannot be exchanged or used in conjunction with other offers, and no cash alternative will be offered.

■ Lenses come as single vision as standard. Other lenses can be added at additional cost.

■ The winners' current prescriptions are required or a free eye test will be conducted. The free eye test cannot be exchanged for cash, used with other vouchers or redeemed by customers already entitled to a free NHS-funded eye test.

■ Prizes should be redeemed at Specsavers Palmers Green only.

Hair-raising experience

Shettal has her locks trimmed for charity

A "STAR" was shorn on Saturday as caring Shettal Panchal's crowning glory was cut off and donated to a charity which makes wigs free of charge for children who have lost their own hair through cancer treatment.

The chartered accountant, of Maltby Drive, Enfield, had 20 inches of her tresses chopped off in aid of the Little Princess Trust.

Shettal, who celebrated her 44th birthday on Monday and has had long hair for much of her life, watched in the mirror intently as Anddroulla Lazarou, the stylist at Hair Lux, in Southbury Road, plaited her locks and then snipped away.

Sensel Misiri, the owner of the salon, waived what would have been cost of the haircut and donated it to the cause.

"I'm still getting used to my new look, but I have had plenty of compliments from family, friends and work colleagues," said Shettal.

She is also raising funds for the Macmillan Cancer Support charity through an online JustGiving page she has set up – and on Sunday she is taking part in a sponsored five-kilometre walk in Trent Park, Cockfosters, hoping to raise £500 for Cancer Research UK.

Contributions to that can be made through another JustGiving page Shettal has set up.

She recently lost a close friend to bowel cancer and has also lost family members to cancer. She says that is what has inspired her to raise funds for cancer charities.

"Friends and relatives have lost their battle against cancer, so it's a cause very close to my heart," she said.

"Cutting my hair is a small price to pay for helping cancer sufferers," she said. "How do you explain to a little girl the reason why she can't have long hair and has to be in hospital?"

Shettal describes herself as a "spiritual person" and "very religious" – and that was part of her decision to donate her hair.

"My heart told me I had to do it and it feels right for me," she explained.

She is also a bone marrow donor and gives blood. "By being a donor I think I could quite literally be saving a life," she added.

To make a donation to Shettal's fundraising events, visit fundraise.cancerresearchuk.org/page/shettals-fundraising-page and bravetheshave.org.uk/shavers/shettal-panchal

Before and after: Shettal Panchal awaits her haircut, top, and, above and below, with stylist Anddroulla Lazarou after her long hair had been lopped off

21st century boy: Danielz as Marc Bolan

By Russ Lawrence

russ.lawrence@nlhnews.co.uk

TOP band T.Rextasy play a rearranged concert at Millfield Theatre next Friday (June 18) following the illness which forced them to cancel their scheduled appearance at the Edmonton venue in February.

The group have been recreating the experience of a live gig by the original chart-topping 1970s' T.Rex for a quarter of a century, performing the hits of Marc Bolan all over the world.

And for Danielz, who formed T.Rextasy as a homage to his idol, the band's latest 25th anniversary UK tour is tinged with irony – Bolan's own pop career only lasted a decade before his untimely death in a car crash 40 years ago at the age of 29.

"T.Rextasy is not a cabaret-style tribute act," explained Danielz, who with his tousled corkscrew curls bears an uncanny resemblance to Bolan.

"We are a rock and roll band and I make that distinction. We play live without any backing tracks and try to recapture the atmosphere and excitement of a live concert by T.Rex."

Few would believe when they see him on stage, strutting, and pouting as the flamboyant Bolan once did that he is approaching his 58th birthday.

Danielz, who at 5ft 7ins tall is the same height as Bolan, was just 13 when his obsession began after he saw T.Rex play in 1972 in Germany where his parents were stationed with the British Army.

He went on to be in bands, writing his own material, but his big break proved elusive and in 1992 he had the idea to form T.Rextasy to escape his 9 to 5 office job.

He is reticent when it comes to talking about the infamous former glam rock star, who in 1996 invited T.Rextasy to support him on his glam rock nostalgia tour, playing to thousands at rock arenas including Birmingham's National Exhibition Centre and Manchester's GMex.

It got them noticed and proved the launchpad for their career.

Danielz and T.Rextasy have performed all over the world and met pop and rock artists who were friends of Bolan, including David Bowie, his producer Tony Visconti, T.Rex's percussionist Mickey Finn and the band's original drummer Bill Legend, as well as friends and family including Bolan's ex-wife June, his girlfriend Gloria Jones, who was driving the car on that fateful night when he died, and their son Rolan Bolan.

Danielz says his aim is to keep Bolan's legacy alive and considers himself himself a curator of the artist, owning many of his stage clothes, as well as many of his original multi-track recording tapes,

"I bought them off a record producer who had acquired them and had planned to release them as a new album, but hadn't realised the legal complexities around publishing rights," he said. "I could have bought a house with what I paid for them."

The Millfield show will thrill those who were fans of the band in the 1970s and introduce the uninitiated to Bolan's brilliance with hits including Get It On, Jeepster, Hot Love, Ride a White Swan, Born to Boogie, Telegram Sam, 20th Century Boy, Metal Guru and Children of the Revolution.

Mummy's boy

On a mission: Annabella Wallis as Jenny Halsey and Tom Cruise as Nick Morton
PA Photo/Universal Pictures

THE MUMMY (15, 110 mins)

ALMOST a decade after the release of the hammy fantasy adventure The Mummy: Tomb Of The Dragon Emperor, director Alex Kurtzman attempts to reboot the horror franchise with this action-packed thriller set in the present day, which positions Tom Cruise at the centre of the special effects-laden destruction.

Cruise plays tomb raider Nick Morton, who travels to Egypt with plucky archaeologist Jenny Halsey (Annabelle Wallis) to retrieve an ancient artefact.

In the process, Nick accidentally unearths the resting place of Princess Ahmanet (Sofia Boutella), who was buried alive thousands of years ago after she murdered King Menehptre (Selva Rasalingam) in order to seize the throne.

Nick and a team of military specialists transport Ahmanet's sarcophagus back to the UK. En route, the airplane is brought down by a flock of crows. While Jenny manages to escape the fireball by parachute, Nick is trapped inside.

Miraculously, he survives the inferno without a scratch and enigmatic scientist Dr Henry Jekyll (Russell Crowe) reveals that Nick has been chosen by a resurrected Ahmanet to help her destroy the modern world and refashion it as her new dominion.

Let your property with confidence

Choosing the right letting agent is vital for marketing and managing your property to the highest standards. Therefore, it is important to judge an agent by the services they deliver as opposed to the price they charge to ensure your property is in safe hands. Richard Oughton from Ellis & Co in Enfield Town provides the essential checklist for landlords when searching for a letting agency.

Firstly, agents who are members of The Association of Residential Letting Agents (ARLA) all adhere to a strict Code of Practise. As such, they are required to promote high standards in the industry. Choosing a member agent in your local area will give you the added security of being able to contact the board if you feel they have breached the regulations. They provide a search engine on their website so you can find member agents in your area.

SAFE, an acronym for Safe Agent Fully Endorsed, is a trademark which indicates a letting agent protects its clients' money through protection schemes. This means that your money is guarded in a separate system to that used for running the business. SAFE agents are also required to possess professional indemnity insurance and a customer complaints procedure. It is essential that your letting agent is a SAFE member to ensure the business is certified to protect your money.

In addition, always verify that your letting agent has a deposit protection scheme. This provides security for both you and your tenant so the deposit can only be deducted if damage is made to the property, rent or bills are unpaid, or both parties fail to comply with the letting agreement. Agents who use a deposit protection scheme are compliant of the correct industry procedure which indicates that they have a high regard for financial security.

Letting agents should always provide Rent Warranty; a system which protects landlords against tenants who withhold rent. This will cover the cost of rent should an unforeseen circumstance occur. Always enquire about Rent Warranty and possible eventualities to ensure you receive owed income.

Finally, there are many boards offering training and examinations for letting agents. The ARLA, NFoPP and City & Guilds, for example, are widely recognised and provide specialist training to letting agents. Choosing an agency which provides their staff with training schemes and examinations guarantee that your property will be expertly managed.

Using this checklist will help you find the right letting agent for your property. It is imperative that your property, tenants and money are all protected using established schemes. By using an expert professional, you will be able to relax, safe in the knowledge that your property is well taken care of. For more information or assistance regarding Letting and Managing your property contact Richard from Ellis and Co. at 58 Church Street, Enfield EN2 6AX. Tel 020 8363 8282 or email enfield@ellisandco.co.uk

Rushey Hill, Oakwood EN2

OIRO £525,000

Your new family home is ready and waiting for you with the added bonus of Ofsted "Outstanding" Highlands Secondary School and "Good" rated Grange Park and Merryhills Primary School all within walking distance. The lounge opens directly onto the garden giving plenty of space for children to play. The kitchen is big enough for a table with the added bonus of a utility area with additional access to the garden. Upstairs there are 3 bright and spacious bedrooms and a family bathroom with the practicality of a separate wc. The house benefits from a front garden with parking facilities for two cars and a rear garden.

Please call Bairstow Eves on 0208 886 2216 to view.

Hillside Grove, Southgate N14

OIRO £550,000

This is a stunning extended cottage in a central Southgate location. Beautifully refurbished, it is ready for you to do nothing more than move in. It is designed to offer a generous light and airy living space with an unusually spacious kitchen finished off by a low maintenance courtyard garden. Upstairs two bedrooms and a modern bathroom complete this beautiful package. Hillside Grove located in the heart of Southgate is less than 0.1 miles from Southgate Station and within 0.5 miles of a wide range of shops, cafes and restaurants. Southgate Leisure Centre and Marks and Spencer Food Hall are close by and the green space of Oakwood and Grovelands parks is a short walk away.

Please call Bairstow Eves on 0208 886 2216 to view.

Prince George Avenue, Oakwood N14

OIRO £800,000

A bright and spacious family home which retains many original features and has a south facing rear garden. The ground floor offers two reception rooms off a large central hall, along with a good sized kitchen perfect for family gatherings and entertaining friends. Four bedrooms over two floors provide room for all the family and overnight guests. The mature rear garden offers a quiet paradise for parents and an adventure playground for children perfect for those warm summer afternoons. Offered with no onward chain. Prince George Avenue Links Grange Park and Oakwood with the house being just 0.7 miles from Oakwood Station.

Please call Bairstow Eves on 0208 886 2216 to view.

DON'T MISS OUT – LAST HOMES REMAINING AT LOCAL ROYDON DEVELOPMENT

LOCAL HOUSEBUILDER LINDEN HOMES HAS JUST THREE HOMES LEFT AT ITS SOUGHT-AFTER LANGLAND PLACE DEVELOPMENT IN ROYDON, AS HOUSE-HUNTERS SNAP UP THE LUXURIOUS HOMES AND IDEAL LOCATION.

Only plots 1, 21 and 23 of The Horsecroft, Thorndon and Woodley house-type are still available. Both the Woodley and Thorndon 5 bedroom homes, and the 4 bedroom Horsecroft, are designed to give owners a real sense of space in their vast open-plan living areas. Priced from £930,000 for the 4 bed, the detached homes feature an expansive, airy kitchen/dining and family area, utility room and downstairs cloakroom. The homes also boast en suite bathrooms to bedrooms one and two in the 5 beds, and the master bedroom in the 4 bed. Each home features a large garden – perfect for enjoying the outdoors with family and friends.

Langland Place comprises of twelve dwellings nestled in the commuter haven of Roydon, giving residents access to stunning countryside while being extremely well connected via strong commuter links by road and rail. Roydon train station is just under two miles away, offering links into London Liverpool Street in just 30 minutes, whilst the M11, A10 and the A1 are also close by – taking you north towards Cambridge and south towards Epping and London.

Roseanne Bullen, Sales and Marketing Manager at Linden Homes Eastern said: "The homes at Langland Place have been snapped up very quickly due to their high standard quality, size and great location, so with just three homes left, we are urging house-hunters to book an appointment and come and have a look at the Show Home asap to avoid disappointment.

"The homes are also available via our Part Exchange scheme whereby Linden Homes is your guaranteed cash buyer. As long as the value of your existing home is no more than 70 per cent of the selling price of your chosen new home, we will sell your old house for you, taking away any added stress from a house move."

Roydon and the surrounding area offer plenty for all the family to do. From days out at Lee Valley Regional Park, to Paradise Wildlife Park and Mountfitchet Castle. Local towns provide many options for shopping and dining, whilst the countryside gives homeowners an idyllic setting for weekend walks. The Sales and Marketing Suite and Show Home are available to view, Thursday to Monday 10am – 5pm. Or you can call 01245 768 662 or visit lindenhomes.co.uk for more information.

BROOKMANS
MANOR
HERTFORDSHIRE, AL9

LAUNCHING FRIDAY 23RD JUNE 11AM - 7PM

TIMELESS ELEGANCE MEETS CONTEMPORARY LUXURY

Brookmans Manor, the epitome of style in a beautiful mature setting, spacious apartments ready for immediate occupation.

On Friday 23rd June Telford Homes is hosting an open day launch event at its latest development, Brookmans Manor, in Hertfordshire. This exclusive boutique development is in the prestigious area of Brookmans Park on George's Wood Road, and includes just nine, 1 and 2 bedroom apartments all ready for immediate occupation, bringing contemporary living to the timeless scenery of Hertfordshire.

With prices starting from just £490,000, each apartment offers generously sized rooms and access to a large communal garden, beautifully landscaped in a mature and established design. In addition to the outdoor space, some of the apartments come with private balconies or terraces. Entry to the development is via electric gates and each of the homes include high-end fittings, from Villeroy & Boch sanitary-ware, Smeg & Siemens integrated kitchen appliances and tastefully designed details by London designer, Urban Myth. Underfloor heating, engineered timber flooring and carpets are fitted throughout. These stylish, contemporary interiors are balanced by the verdant and lush outlook from the apartments, which allow cascades of natural light to pour through their large windows. Residents will also benefit from two allocated parking spaces per apartment, lift access to all floors, video entry systems and some apartments have studies and utility rooms providing extra space and an added amenity that is not often found in new build developments.

Three of the nine properties are available for purchase in conjunction with the Help-To-Buy scheme, making this development a fantastic investment opportunity for young couples looking to buy their own property, alongside buyers looking for the convenience and security of apartment living without compromising on space.

Just a short walk from Brookmans Park station, Brookmans Manor is conveniently situated for fast national transport links to London and internationally. Trains to London King's Cross take as little as 34 minutes, and services include those from Peterborough, Hitchin, and Welwyn Garden City. Additionally, Brookmans Manor is just a short drive away from London Luton and Stansted airports.

David Campbell, Group Sales and Marketing Director at Telford Homes, comments: "Brookmans Manor exemplifies our dedication to building first class, high-quality apartments to meet the demands of today's astute buyers and is an attractive purchase to those possibly trading down from a larger home who wish to retain larger pieces of furniture".

Beyond the stylish and wooded surroundings of the development, residents can explore a variety of charming shops and boutiques in the thriving Brookmans Park Village. Local and artisanal delights are also prevalent from locally-sourced food and drink at the traditional butchers, bakers, fishmonger, greengrocer and award-winning gastro-pubs, serving local dishes and hearty meals.

Brookmans Manor is also only a short distance to Brookmans Park, Gobions Wood and Hatfield Park where residents can embrace leisure activities such as woodland walks, riding and fishing. Other sporting facilities conveniently located to Brookmans Manor include Hatfield House Real Tennis Club, Brookmans Park Golf Club and David Lloyd Club.

Join us at our launch event. Visit during the day or contact us now to book your exclusive appointment.

A noticeable improvement

By James Baggott

YOU may think the Kia Picanto is the car most likely to be driven by your granny, and you'd be right. But now the manufacturer is looking to ditch that blue-rinse image and target a younger age group with its suitably spiced-up city car.

Designed to attract youthful buyers, the refreshed model teams sporty looks with a more focused driving style to woo young professionals to part with their cash. But are the tweaks enough?

Well, there's no doubt Kia has worked hard to liven things up. There's an extended "tiger nose" grille, the likes of which we've seen spread across the maker's range, smart LED driving lights and a large air intake at the front.

Double wheel arches add some flair at the sides, while a "shark" antenna, which initially made an appearance on BMWs, has filtered down to the city car segment for the first time. What's more, for added sportiness, the GT-Line specification gets some random red trim – because nothing says sporty like added red inserts – and a twin-tipped exhaust.

Kia even went as far as describing the new design as "sexy" in the launch presentation. Perhaps our definition of sexy is slightly at odds with Kia's, but we get what they're trying to achieve. Sort of.

The Picanto is Kia's second best-selling model in the UK after the Sportage, so the third-generation model has a huge weight on its shoulders to perform. As it's predominantly bought as a second car by more mature buyers, Kia thinks the new tech – wireless charging for your mobile, parking camera and Apple CarPlay – will tempt younger, first-time car buyers into dealers.

At just 3.6 metres (the same as its predecessor) Kia has managed to eke out a little more cabin space by increasing the wheelbase and reducing the front overhang, but you're still going to wish your legs were foldable if you're sat in the back.

Up front, you'll sit shoulder to shoulder with your passenger, but there's ample leg room and the driving position's comfortable.

Autonomous emergency braking, which warns, then stops you if it senses a crash is also available, as well as a smart torque vectoring system that improves handling by braking individual wheels.

It's behind the wheel where the Picanto will divide opinion. Older buyers looking for a relaxed and comfortable ride will notice the improved suspension and capable way it deals with nasty, pot-holed road surfaces.

However, the sprightly engines, quicker turn-in and faster steering may make them feel a little too hurried behind the wheel. It's these very characters that Kia is hoping younger buyers will appreciate.

The juxtaposition of characteristics is a trait of a car designed for a global market, where different markets want different things.

In the UK, you may be more likely to find a Picanto in the bridge club car park, but in southern Europe it'll be left abandoned outside nightclubs while its owners party the night away.

Overall, there's a noticeable improvement in ride and handling, thanks largely to reduced weight and stiffer body, but whether that's suitable for you will depend on your driving style.

As this was an early test of a left-hand-drive model, there were few details as to what options will feature on UK models. The Kia UK boss explained each market is given a menu to pick from and said his team are working on refining what they'll take.

We do know this will follow the conventional Kia strategy of 1, 2 and 3 levels of specification and the GT-Line, driven here, will slot between 2 and 3.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR A VARIATION OF A PREMISES LICENCE UNDER SECTION 34 OF THE LICENSING ACT 2003
Notice is hereby given that Ms Medine Basirika has applied to the London Borough of Haringey Council for a variation of the Premises Licence for the Village, 118 West Green Road, Tottenham, London N15 5AA as follows: 1) add the performance of recorded music from 12.00 to 01.00 Monday to Thursday & from 12.00 to 01.30 Friday to Sunday; 2) to extend the permitted hours for the provision of late night refreshment & the sale of alcohol for consumption on the premises to 01.00 Monday to Thursday & to 01.30 Friday to Sunday; 3) extend the hours for licensable activities until 02.00 on Christmas Eve, Boxing Day, New Years Eve, Bank Holiday Sundays & Valentines Day; 4) to remove certain conditions from the premises licence and add those at part m of the application form. The address of the licensing authority where the register is kept and the application may be inspected during normal business hours is Licensing Section, 6th Floor, Alexandra House, 10 Station Road, Wood Green, London N22 7TR or on the council's website: www.haringey.gov.uk any representations by an other person or responsible authority must be received in writing by the licensing authority by 3rd July 2017 stating the nature and grounds for making such representation. It is an offence under section 158 of the licensing act 2003 to knowingly or recklessly make a false statement in connection with an application. The maximum fine on summary conviction for this offence is £5000.

CONDITIONS OF ACCEPTANCE FOR ALL ADVERTISEMENTS

Orders are accepted by the Publishers subject to the Standard Conditions agreed between the Newspaper Society and the Institute of Practitioners in Advertising. Save that:

1. Advertisements are accepted on the conditions that (a) descriptions relating to goods are accurate and in no way contravene the provisions of the Trade Descriptions Act 1968, and the Fair Trading Act 1973, and (b) the copy complies with the British Code of Advertising Practice. Advertisements offering credit or hire facilities must conform to the Consumer Credit (Advertisements) Regulations 1980.

2. 'Classified' Advertisers offering goods or service of a business, commercial or trade nature will, at the discretion of the Publishers, be deemed 'Trade Advertisers', and as such, must include their names in advertisements. A telephone number is an optional addition to these requirements and not an alternative.
To comply with the Business Advertisements (Disclosure) Order 1977, Trade Advertisers must make it clear that they are selling goods in the course of business either by content, format, size or place of the advertisement or by including words such as 'trade', 'dealer', 'agent', 'wholesaler', 'TT' etc. in the advertisement.

3. The Publishers accept no liability whatsoever for any loss or damage however caused arising out of:
(a) Any error, inaccuracy or omission in the printing or publishing of any advertisement;
(b) Any failure to publish an advertisement on the day / date or day / dates specified by the advertiser; or
(c) Any delay in forwarding or omission to forward replies to box numbers to the Advertiser.

4. The Publishers will endeavour to publish advertisements on the day / date or day / dates specified by the Advertiser but insertion days / dates cannot be guaranteed.

5. Where shrinkage of advertisement occurs for whatever reasons the advertisement will be charged to the nearest full centimetre. This will NOT apply to the full-page advertisements, which remain full pages even after shrinkage.

6. The Publishers reserve the right to reject an advertisement or to vary it in any way they deem fit, at any time before publication, whether or not the advertisement has already been accepted for publication.

7. Whilst every effort is made to minimise errors in advertisements, mistakes do sometimes occur. Advertisers or their agents should therefore check their advertisements and inform us of any errors immediately. Responsibility cannot be accepted for more than one incorrect insertion. Typographical or minor changes, which do not affect the value of the advertisement, do not qualify for republication or allowances.

8. All gross advertising rates (except classified lineage and semi-display) are subject to and include a 0.1% Advertising Standards Board of Finance surcharge, payable by the advertisers to help finance the self-regulatory control system administered by the Advertising Standards Authority.

9. All rates quoted are subject to VAT at the rate currently in force at the time the advertisement appears.

10. Should the rate for advertisements be altered the price for remaining insertions shall be revised accordingly or the publishers shall have the right to cancel the unexpired portion of the order.

11. The placing of an advertisement order will be deemed an acceptance of these conditions.

12. Account facilities are granted at the discretion of the Company.

13. All accounts must be settled within the terms agreed by the Company and the Customer.
(1) Should an advertiser be in breach of the agreed terms, the publisher shall be entitled to levy a 10% surcharge on the value of the whole debt in respect of accounts with terms of less than 30 days, and any discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed.
(2) Regular monthly accounts that are in breach of the agreed terms will pay an interest rate of 4% above the current bank of England base rate for each month that the account is overdue and discounts or commissions that had been allowed will be reclaimed. TRUSTEES

Three roles: Property / Social Care & Local Government / Retail & Hospitality

The Royal Free is a pioneering organisation and continues to play a leading role in the life changing care of patients. It leads improvements in healthcare and is proud to have some of the best clinical outcomes in the country.

The Royal Free Charity supports the patients and staff of the Royal Free London NHS Foundation Trust. It comprises three local charities, the Royal Free Charity, Barnet Hospital Charity and Chase Farm Charity which enables us to support projects on a local level as well as supporting the Trust in larger projects.

Our ambitions are clear. We want to extend our impact in the communities we serve beyond our hospitals and current services. Crucial to us is for patients to have a world-class experience. We will do this through innovating. This renowned charity is proud to support many of the best clinical outcomes at the Royal Free.

But also, as we finalise plans for our state-of-the-art Pears Building development, which will host a 37-bed lodge, innovative research laboratories for University College London, as well as commercial retail space, we are looking to boost the skillset of our impressive Board of Trustees.

Whether this is your first non-executive appointment or you already have a portfolio career, we are seeking individuals who will be able to challenge us to be more innovative and more creative in these areas.

Although we have a preference for candidates who live in the London Boroughs of Camden, Barnet or Enfield, we welcome applications from candidates with any sort of background in the three named specialisms who will bring further ambition and drive to our organisation. No prior knowledge of healthcare is required.

LLORIS PRAISES SPURS DEFENCE

By Dominique Stafford

sport.enfield@nlhnews.co.uk

TOTTENHAM HOTSPUR skipper Hugo Lloris believes that their defensive strength is down to doing the basics properly.

Last season saw Spurs concede just 26 goals in the Premier League – three fewer than any other team – to end up with the best defensive record in the division.

The total was also the lowest number of goals the club have ever conceded in a season and France keeper Lloris is delighted they have become so tight at the back.

"It's the second successive season we've done it and that is down to our basics," he said. "Scoring goals is important, but the most important thing is to have a balance and make sure you don't concede easy chances and concede goals because then the game becomes less difficult to win.

"The season before we became the best defence and last season we were the best defence as well. That has to be in your DNA, not conceding chances, not conceding goals, playing good football and creating chances.

"Everyone knows what they have to do on the pitch whether it's about positioning, passing, possession or defensive areas. In both boxes we need to be clever, smart and have that killer instinct."

Meanwhile, fellow France international Moussa Sissoko has admitted that last season was the worst of his career.

The midfielder joined Spurs for a club record-equalling £30million from Newcastle United last summer following a string of impressive performances at Euro 2016, but he struggled to make an impact at White Hart Lane – playing an entire Premier League match just twice.

Proud of record: Hugo Lloris helped Tottenham concede the fewest goals in the Premier League

And Sissoko has admitted that his future at the club could be in doubt if manager Mauricio Pochettino does not see him as a major part of his plans.

"You can never be sure of anything," he told the French newspaper L'Equipe. "What I want is for everything to be clear. If the manager is no longer counting on me, if he thinks that other players are better, then he should say it.

"I want a completely honest conversation to see what they plan to do, what they are seeing in terms of my future. From that moment on, everything will be clearer in my head.

"The idea is to be clear very early to allow, if I need to leave, for my agent to do good work. Even if everyone knows that I prefer England, I have never closed the door to any league.

"I fell from a high point last season. Even though I never thought I would play all the games, I was not expecting such a small amount of playing time. It was the worst season of my career, even though as a team it was certainly the best, so it's weird. We'll talk with my agent to make the best decision. My goal is to go to the 2018 World Cup."

Skolars fade badly in the second half

THE London Skolars suffered a second-half collapse on Sunday as they slumped to a 36-18 defeat at York City Knights in rugby league's Kingstone Press League One.

The visitors enjoyed the better of the opening 40 minutes and moved into an 18-6 lead by the interval, but the second half was a completely different story as York ran in five tries without reply to end up as emphatic victors.

It was the hosts who struck first on five minutes through a converted try from Liam Harris, but the rest of the first half belonged to the Skolars and they levelled the scores on 13 minutes when Mike Sykes crashed over the line to score a try which Jy-Mel Coleman converted.

Five minutes later the visitors went ahead as Josh Allison touched down and they moved further clear on the stroke of the interval when Sadiq Abebiyi broke through the defence to score. Both of these tries were converted.

But York were a different proposition in the second half and Joe Batchelor and Adam Robinson crossed the line in quick succession to bring them back on level terms within eight minutes of the restart.

A Harris penalty put the hosts in front and they became increasingly dominant after this, with Harris, Jonny Presley and David Foggin-Johnson all scoring tries to set the seal on their win.

A disappointing afternoon for the Skolars deteriorated further two minutes from time when Lameck Juma was sent off for a high tackle.

The London Skolars will hope to get back on track when they host Oxford on Saturday.

North Middlesex stay in contention at the top of the table

NORTH MIDDLESEX remain just two points off the top of the Premier Division of the Kingspan Middlesex County Cricket League after securing a three-wicket win at Richmond on Saturday.

Adam London (47) and Bhavesh Pankhania (43 not out) were the main contributors as Richmond were dismissed for 189 batting first, with Ed Bird (3-49), Tom Nicoll (2-23), Joel Hughes (2-26) and Adam Price (2-39) all impressing with the ball for the visitors.

North Middlesex lost early wickets in reply, but a superb innings from Evan Flowers (77 not out) – with excellent support from James Parslow (44) and Price (31) – guided them to 193-7 in 46.2 overs.

Meanwhile, Highgate continued their fine form in Division Two by easing to a seven-wicket win at Eastcote.

Batting first, the hosts posted 230-6 from their 45 overs, with Aman Lotay (77) and Atharva Prasad (55) both making significant contributions.

Highgate encountered few problems in reaching their target though as Christopher Arul (62) and William Bowley (45 off just 22 balls) laid a good platform before Scott Elstone (71 not out) and Syed Muazam Ali (30 not out) guided them to 234-3 with three overs to spare.

But North London and Hornsey were both beaten in their matches in Division Two.

North London suffered a narrow six-run loss in a tight match at table-topping Harrow St Mary's.

James Fell (5-40) and Jordan Gregory (3-16) did most of the damage as the hosts could only make 130 batting first, but North London also found runs hard to come by and Dave Schout top-scored with just 29 as they were dismissed for 134.

John Olive (82), Alex Scott (67) and David Wood (50) all scored heavily as Barnes amassed 296-9, with Paul Weekes taking 5-57.

William Prest (58) and James Bull (49) got Hornsey's reply off to a good start but they fell away badly once this stand had been broken, with Andrew Bourdillion (7-23) ripping through the rest of their batting as they were dismissed for 189.

North Middlesex host Ealing on Saturday, while Hornsey entertain Eastcote, Highgate are at home to Harrow St Mary's and North London go to Indian Gymkhana.
